RARE CATCH FOR THE DISCERNING INVESTOR

While Upperhill boasts a large stock of Nairobi's commercial real estate, very little of the suburb is serviced by modern residential prospects. This requires the elite working population of the area to commute to neighboring areas often frustrated by heavy traffic. Rental uptake of new buildings in the area are therefore high - providing rental returns well over the market average largely in honor of the lack of supply.

Moreover, Nairobi Hospital poised just across the road from the development attracts a significant portion of Kenya's medical tourism valued in 2014 at KES 100 billion, giving Altura investors the first admission to short and medium term tourist stays that work to turbo charge rental returns.
